Our Patron

During the war the poet wrote a poem /Bagnet na broń (1943)/ and / Drzewo rozpaczające (1954)/ , which were to describe his wartime fate; his stay in Russia, his soldier's experiences and nostalgia for the Motherland. Later, longer poems are created Mazovia /1951/ and never completed cycle The Vistula /1953/, which are sentimental retreat to youth, memories out of his own biography and expressing Mazovian landscape. Other worth noticing pieces are Anka /1956/ kept in a personal style, devoted to his daughter who died fatally as well as The Diary / Pamiętnik – 1918-1922/, published after the poet's death in 1984. As an interpreter he translated Russian prose and poetry of XIX and XXth century

The first poetic work was written in 1924, debut of Windmills - Wiatraki. He worked together with Stanislaw Ryszard Stane and Witold Wandurski. In 1925 they worked on a poem Three Salvos /Trzy Salwy/, so-called the manifesto of revolutionary poetry. Between the first and second world war he wrote a poem series Smoke Over the Town /Dymy nad miastem-1927/, Care and Song /Troska i pieśń -1932/, Final Cry/ Krzyk ostateczny 1938/. A beautiful poem of 1992 The Paris Commune /Komuna Paryska/ was confiscated by the censorship. Moreover, he published some articles in a magazine - "Literature News"

All school 5 read to children

This year, the school library organized an action "All school 5 teachers read out to children". Our teachers read fairy tales for pupils in zero and first classes. The librarians gave diplomas and colour books to all the pupils.

First formers can already read!

In January class one students became library members. Before the students borrowed books from the library they passed a library exam how to obey library rules.

Meeting with poetry!

On 21st and 22nd January Grandparents' Day is celebrated.

Everybody has their beloved people who will find the time to listen to us, play or go for a walk with us. Mum and Dad are occupied with things, having lots of work, but grandparents will always give us their time.

For that reason the school library held a poetic event called 'We love our grandmothers and grandfathers' where grandparents were invited. the grandchildren presented some poems dedicated to their dear grandparents. There was a sweet course for everybody. In the end best wishes to have fortune and plenty of smiles for everyday life were given. To memorize the meeting souvenir hearts were handed in to the visitors.
